

M'NEAL ARRESTED FOR ATTEMPTED BRIBERY

DARBYVILLE WOMAN SAYS MAN SOUGHT HER HELP; TELLS JUDGE, PROSECUTOR

Williamsport Man Quietly Arrested on Grand Jury's
Secret Indictment as Witnesses Leave Courtroom
Unsuspecting; Seeks Bond to Evade Jail.

Newell McNeal, 50, of Williamsport, was arrested in Judge Adkins' courtroom at 11 a. m. Thursday to answer to a secret grand jury indictment charging him with attempting to bribe a juror. The indictment was returned Tuesday when the grand jurors reported.

The arrest came as a surprise to everyone in the room and only a few officials actually knew what had taken place. Deputy Sheriff Bryan Custer, with a capias from common pleas court calling for McNeal's arrest, had been sitting beside him during two hours while his attorneys were making a plea for a new trial in his conviction last week. After McNeal stood to his feet and heard Judge Adkins sentence he again took his chair and the court was adjourned.

GIVEN CHARGE
When McNeal's attorneys, Tom A. Renick and C. A. Weldon, went forward to confer with Judge Adkins, Deputy Custer placed a copy of the indictment in McNeal's hands.

The man was then taken to the sheriff's office where he carefully read the charge. An effort was to be made to obtain bond to evade waiting in the county jail for action on the case.

McNeal's secret indictment was brought about through information given by Mrs. Lillian Holt and her daughter, Miss Jennie, both of Darbyville. Mrs. Holt was a juror in the McNeal trial for rape on Margaret Pontius.

CHARGED APPROACH
When the jury reported last Thursday morning Mrs. Holt, after being dismissed, immediately went to Judge Adkins' bench, called Prosecution Attorney Emmitt L. Crist over, and told the two officials that McNeal had approached her daughter and told her that if a decision of not guilty was returned there would be money in it for her (Mrs. Holt). Mrs. Holt was angered when informed of the cording to reports emanating from facts by her daughter, and the jury room, was one of the most ardent jurors who sought to have the man convicted as charged.

Mrs. Holt told Judge Adkins and Prosecutor Crist that she was standing in a local restaurant at noon on the day she was seated as a juror and that Mr. McNeal approached her and said "How is Jennie, Mrs. Holt?" Mrs. Holt said she replied that she was fine and when Mr. McNeal asked her if she was still living in Darbyville and the woman said she resided in the affirmative and permitted the matter to leave her mind when Mr. McNeal walked away.

TOLD OF ATTEMPT
When she returned to Darbyville that evening, Mrs. Holt said her daughter came to her and informed her that Mr. McNeal had been there before her and said in part: "Your mother is on a jury which is trying my case. I am an innocent man; I want your mother to know I am an innocent man and I want you to tell her that if I am found innocent there will be money in it for her," according to Mrs. Holt's statement.

Miss Jennie Holt was then summoned to appear before the grand jury as a witness and it was on her testimony that the Williamsport stock dealer and filling station proprietor was indicted.

Terrible Explosion Believed Result of Plot.

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 28.—Two men, believed enroute on a death mission, were blown to bits today and four other persons were injured when a terrific explosion ripped through the men's automobile, reducing it to a mass of twisted metal and splintered wood.

The men who died were identified tentatively as Alfred Satri, 30, and Rinaldo Augustinelli, 30, both of Jessup, near here.

Both were seated in the automobile in a West Scranton street when the charge let go. Nearby homes were rocked and windows shattered.

An hour after the blast, the head of one man was found 150 yards from the wreckage.

Later, a second mangled form was found in a field on the opposite side of the street, fifty yards from the automobile.

A block away, police found a seared wallet containing a license card issued to Dominic Satri, of Jessup. It was learned later, however, that Dominic's brother, Alfred, had taken the car from his brother's garage and was believed.

The estate is estimated to be valued at $80,000, $37,500 of which is personal property and the remainder real estate. Mr. Snyder is also reported to have had $45,000 life insurance.

Emmitt L. Crist represented the estate in the appointment of an administratrix.

M'NEAL SENTENCED TO PEN

Judge Adkins Overrules Motion of Defense Attorneys For Re-trial.

MERCY IS REFUSED
"Nothing To Say", Asserts
Defendant.

Refusing a plea of attorneys that he be merciful in passing sentence, Judge Joseph W. Adkins, Thursday, sentenced Newell McNeal, 50, of Williamsport, to the Ohio penitentiary from one to 15 years after he had overruled a motion for a new trial.

The court, according to the statute, was empowered to sentence the man to the county jail or the workhouse for six months on the charge of which he was found guilty by a jury just a week ago, assault with intent to rape Margaret Pontius, 15, of Deer-creek-twp.

McNeal was making an effort to raise bond to permit him to go free while his attorneys carry the case to the district court of appeals on error, as they indicated they will do.

DENIES NEW TRIAL
Court convened at 9.15 a. m. Thursday when C. A. Weldon, co-counsel for the defendant, made a 30-minute plea for a new trial reviewing 15 assertions of error in the case which he said should warrant a new trial. Following Mr. Weldon's talk before the court, Prosecution Attorney Emmitt L. Crist reviewed the case denying that charges of the defense attorney brought prejudicial error into the proceedings.

He dwelt at length on the first item in the 15 cited, that in which it was stated Mr. Crist failed to inform the defense that George Winfough of Monroe-twp who was on the jury was the husband of a woman he represents in bank-ruptcy proceedings.

He said that this fact caused error. He said that Mrs. Winfough was not the juror and that her husband was and that Mr. Winfough had no connection whatsoever in the bankruptcy suit. Crist said he was not hired by Mrs. Winfough but substituted for the late I. F. Snyder who was ill at that time.

MERCY IS SOUGHT
The court then overruled the motion for new trial and Tom A. Renick, co-counsel for McNeal implored the court to sentence the man to the workhouse instead of the penitentiary as the law allowed him.

Judge Adkins went over the history of the case and said that considering all the facts he could not do otherwise.

WHITE MOVES IN MILK WAR

Asks Assembly Permission To
Name Committee To Investigate Prices.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 29.—Official investigation of the controversy over Northern Ohio milk prices to determine whether farmers and consumers are being fairly treated was proposed by Gov. George White this afternoon in one of three new messages sent to the 99th general assembly.

The Governor suggested that the assembly, now holding a special session to cut salaries, authorize him to appoint a committee to determine whether milk producers are being deprived of fair price and whether consumers are paying too much for milk.

The other two messages proposed: 1. Appointment by the Governor of a State board to supervise plans for eliminating slum districts in Ohio with the aid of funds borrowed from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

2. Enactment of legislation placing on January tax duplicates certain levies for paying off bond issues and levies outside the 15 mill limitation which will or already have been voted.

The Governor's three additional messages, it was said by legislative leaders, will make it almost impossible for the general assembly to conclude its special session this week.

MESSMORE HELD

Harrison, according to officials, is a former inmate of the Athens State Hospital.

NOMINEE TO HIT TARIFF

Roosevelt Blessed By Senator
Norris, To Speak in Farm
Strike Center.

ENROUTE WITH GOV. ROOSEVELT IN NEBRASKA, Sept. 29.—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt came today into the heart of the country where agrarian discontent and political unrest have reached their most acute stage.

He came with the political blessing and sponsorship of Senator George R. Norris, the veteran Nebraska insurgent, who this year, as four years ago, has bolted President Hoover and is carrying the Democratic banner throughout the grain belt.

TO ATTACK TARIFF
Tonight will find the Democratic nominee in Sioux City, Ia., center of the famous "farm strike," which began as a small blaze and is steadily assuming the proportions of a major conflagration in this section. In Sioux City, Gov. Roosevelt plans to deliver the last of his major speeches on this 9,000-mile swing about the circle. It will be devoted principally to tariff, and the manner in which the Smoot-Hawley act has operated to the disadvantage of the primary producer.

Gov. Roosevelt's program was so arranged as to give him most of the day in Omaha and its environs. It included a parade of the city and a visit to a typical Nebraska farm, operated by one Gus Sumnick, of German extraction. Mr. Sumnick has a Rooseveltian family of 11 children, and he plans to show the Democratic nominee some threshing, some corn shelling and other routine chores of Nebraska farm life.

Expeditionary Force Men
Give Talks Here.

Orin Dreisbach, popular Pickaway-twp man, was elected commander of Howard Hall post No. 134 American Legion at the annual election of officers Wednesday evening in the post rooms. Mr. Dreisbach defeated Frank Littleton for the office by a margin of one vote.

The new commander will succeed Paul H. Betz and will be installed at the fall conference convening here on Oct. 16 and 17.

OTHERS ELECTED
Other officers elected at the meeting were: Lester E. Seitz, first vice commander; James Stout, second vice commander; William B. Cady, adjutant; James Cook, chaplain; George Burns, treasurer; Howard Irvin, Paul Betz, Ed. C. Ebert, Reed Shafer and John W. Walters, executive committee; Harry Timmons and Ralph Nessel, sergeants-at-arms.

It is expected the new officers, with the exception of the commander, will be installed at the same time the post's auxiliary installs its officers after election.

B. E. F. MEN HERE
The post heard an excellent talk following its meeting by three members of the Bonus Expeditionary Force who described conditions in Washington, D. C., the morning of the drive of federal soldiers to break up the B. E. F. camp. Three men, as were all who were in the camp, were indignant over action which they blamed directly on President Hoover and Patrick J. Hurley, his secretary of war.

COAL BOOM IN STATE IS SEEN

Steady Stream of Product
Leaves Athens Vicinity For Northern Ohio.

ATHENS, Sept. 29.—A steady stream of coal started pouring into northern Ohio markets from the Hocking, Crooksville and Cambridge district today as the new reduced freight rates became effective.

Believed to be heralding a new era of good business for the mines, the new rates were placed in effect by railroads at midnight, and by dawn approximately 4,000 tons, piled high on freight cars, were sent on their way to Cleveland and other northern points.

A full trainload of coal, estimated at 2,500 tons, was on the tracks of the Sunday Creek No. 6 mine at Millhead, awaiting effectiveness of the rate to begin shipment.

Operators all over the district reported that new orders for coal are pouring in from the Ohio markets which formerly have used coal from other states to avoid payment of the high Ohio rates.

The new rates were ordered by the state utilities commission after an investigation. Operators of coal mines in the three districts protested that reduced rates recently ordered for eastern Ohio placed southern Ohio at a disadvantage.

ALLEGAN, Mich., Sept. 29.—Six bandits, who held up the First State Bank of Holland and shot the Holland police chief and a pedestrian, escaped from a swampy area here today, shooting their way through a cordon of state police.

In the general melee the bandits stole a second car and fled east. One of the bandits was believed to have been wounded.

He was seen to jump to the floor of the car as pursuing police cruisers swept it with rifles.

An airplane from Holland was following the course of the thugs' flight.

STEAL $12,000
The bandits forced 16 officials and customers of the bank to lie on the floor while they scooped up $12,000 from the vault and teller's drawers.

As they fled one of the officials pressed an alarm button. Police arriving in response to the alarm ran into a swampy area from the bandit outlook situated in a window of the bank.

Chief Peter A. Livernois, who took cover the five thugs, where a sixth raced the getaway of their car. Peter DeJongh, a citizen was in their way. He fell under a rattle of gunfire.

CRASH INTO AUTO
As the waiting car roared out of an alley it collided with another machine driven by Mrs. Betty Bralley. Abandoning the wheel the thugs commandeered a passing car and fled.

There was a running gun battle as they sped down the town's main street and out upon the Allegan highway. A few miles from town pursuing cars drew near the fleeing thugs.

Rifles cracked from the bandit car and glass flew from the windshield of the nearest pursuers.

Nearing Allegan the thugs found the state's police radio had outstripped them. Guards were all ready on the highways.

HAVE MACHINE GUN
They abandoned their car and fled into the swamps near Burdick. State troopers eager to go after them were ordered to stand by when Holland police advised the posess that a machine gun crash had been found in the car abandoned by the thugs in Holland.

DENIES NEW TRIAL

Court convened at 9:15 a. m. Thursday when C. A. Weldon, co-counsel for the defendant, made a 30-minute plea for a new trial reviewing 15 assertions of error in the case which he said should warrant a new trial. Following Mr. Weldon's talk before the court, Prosecuting Attorney Emmitt L. Crist reviewed the case denying that charges of the defense attorney brought prejudicial error into the proceedings.

He dwelt at length on the first item in the 15 cited, that in which it was stated Mr. Crist failed to inform the defense that George Winifough of Monroe-twp who was on the jury was the husband of a woman he represents in bankruptcy proceedings. Mr. Crist denied that this fact caused error. He said that Mrs. Winifough was not the juror and that her husband was not the juror and that Mr. Winifough had no connection whatsoever in the bankruptcy suit. Crist said he was not hired by Mrs. Winifough but substituted for the late I. F. Snyder who was ill at that time.

MERCY IS SOUGHT

The court then overruled the motion for new trial and Tom A. Renick, co-counsel for McNeal implored the court to sentence the man to the workhouse instead of the penitentiary as the law allowed him.

Judge Adkins went over the history of the case and said that considering all the facts he could

WHITE MOVES IN MILK WAR

Asks Assembly Permission To
Name Committee To Investigate Prices.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 29.—Official investigation of the controversy over Northern Ohio milk prices to determine whether farmers and consumers are being fairly treated was proposed by Gov. George White this afternoon in one of three new messages sent to the 89th general assembly.

The Governor suggested that the assembly, now holding a special session to cut salaries, authorize him to appoint a committee "to determine whether milk producers are being deprived of fair price and whether consumers are paying too much for milk."

The other two messages proposed:

1. Appointment by the Governor of a State board to supervise plans for eliminating slum districts in Ohio with the aid of funds borrowed from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

2. Enactment of legislation pertaining on January tax duplicates certain levies for paying off bond issues and levies outside the 15 mill limitation which will or already have been voted.

The Governor's three additional messages, it was said by legislative leaders, will make it almost impossible for the general assembly to conclude its special session this week.

MESSMORE HELD

Pearl Messmore, 21, of Scioto-twp, was arrested Thursday by Sheriff Charles Radcliff on charges of non support.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Royce Dumm, 21, Ashville farmer, and Louise Jinks, 21, Walnut-twp. Rev. Newton Mantle.

Legion Elects Orin Dreisbach As Commander

MURDERS WIFE

IRONTON, Sept. 29.—Believed by authorities to have become temporarily insane, Lawrence Harrison, 32-year-old farmer of Lecta, today shot and instantly killed his wife, Ida, at their home near here.

A few minutes later, Harrison was overpowered by his wife's father, Ike Collins, who seized the weapon and fired point blank at his son-in-law, critically wounding him.

Harrison, according to officials, is a former inmate of the Athens State Hospital.

NOMINEE TO HIT TARIFF

Roosevelt Blessed By Senator
Norris, To Speak in Farm
Strike Center.

ENROUTE WITH GOV. ROOSEVELT IN NEBRASKA, Sept. 29.—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt came today into the heart of the country where agrarian discontent and political unrest have reached their most acute stage.

He came with the political blessing and sponsorship of Senator George R. Norris, the veteran Nebraska insurgent, who this year, as four years ago, has bolted President Hoover and is carrying the Democratic banner throughout the grain belt.

TO ATTACK TARIFF

Tonight will find the Democratic nominee in Sioux City, Ia., center of the famous "farm strike," which began as a small blaze and is steadily assuming the proportions of a major conflagration in this section. In Sioux City, Gov. Roosevelt plans to deliver the last of his major speeches on this 9,000-mile swing about the circle. It will be devoted principally to tariff, and the manner in which the Smoot-Hawley act has operated to the disadvantage of the primary producer.

Gov. Roosevelt's program was so arranged as to give him most of the day in Omaha and its environs. It included a parade of the city and a visit to a typical Nebraska farm, operated by one Gus Sumnick, of German extraction. Mr. Sumnick has a Rooseveltian family of 11 children, and he plans to show the Democratic nominee some threshing, some corn shelling and other routine chores of Nebraska farm life.

Samuel Insull Jr.
Sails for Paris

Samuel Insull, Jr., son of the former Chicago public utilities magnate, and only member of the Insull family to remain in Chicago following the removal of his father from control of his companies, left Chicago Saturday on his way to Paris to join his parents, his mother being ill. Mr. Insull, Jr., is vice chairman of most of the companies his father once headed.

Pickaway-twp Man Succeeds Paul H. Betz as Head of Local Post.

OTHERS SELECTED

Expeditionary Force Men
Give Talks Here.

Orin Dreisbach, popular Pickaway-twp man, was elected commander of Howard Hall post No. 134 American Legion at the annual election of officers Wednesday evening in the post rooms. Mr. Dreisbach defeated Frank Littleton for the office by a margin of one vote.

The new commander will succeed Paul H. Betz and will be installed at the fall conference convening here on Oct. 16 and 17.

OTHERS ELECTED

Other officers elected at the meeting were:

Lester E. Seitz, first vice commander;

James Stout, second vice commander;

William B. Cady, adjutant;

James Cook, chaplain;

George Burns, treasurer;

Howard Irvin, Paul Betz, Ed. C. Ebert, Reed Shafer and John W. Walters, executive committee;

Harry Timmons and Ralph Nessel, sergeants-at-arms.

It is expected the new officers, with the exception of the commander, will be installed at the same time the post's auxiliary installs its officers after election.

B. E. F. MEN HERE

The post heard an excellent talk following its meeting by three members of the Bonus Expeditionary Force who described conditions in Washington, D. C., the morning of the drive of federal soldiers to the E. E. F. camp. The three men, as were all who were in the camp, were indignant over action which they blamed directly on President Hoover and Patrick J. Hurley, his secretary of war.

ROTHMAN HONORED

Son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H.
Rothman To Conduct Services at Price Hill.

Maurice M. Rothman, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Rothman, S. Pickaway-st., has been appointed by Rabbi Silver of Cincinnati, president of the Organization of Orthodox Rabbis of America, to officiate at the High Holy Day services "Rosh Hashonah" (New Year's) and "Yom Kippur" (Day of Atonement) at the Beth Jacob synagogue of Price Hill, Cincinnati.

Mr. Rothman studied at Isaac Elchanan seminary, New York City, and is also a graduate of New York University from where he received his degree last June.

The honor conferred by Rabbi Silver is in recognition of his scholastic attainments while a student at Isaac Elchanan seminary.

CHILDREN DONATE TO FUND FOR TREE

School children of Crooksville are the latest to contribute to the Logan Elm fund, donating $4.06 to the Ohio State Journal. Each pupil in the school contributed a penny to the fund which was collected by the senior history class. The fund has now reached $964.84.

She has been an orphan since childhood, is a high school graduate and likes good literature.

COAL BOOM IN STATE IS SEEN

Steady Stream of Product
Leaves Athens Vicinity For Northern Ohio.

ATHENS, Sept. 29.—A steady stream of coal started pouring into northern Ohio markets from the Hocking, Crooksville and Cambridge district today as the new reduced freight rates became effective.

Believed to be heralding a new era of good business for the mines, the new rates were placed in effect by railroads at midnight, and by dawn approximately 4,000 tons, piled high on freight cars, were sent on their way to Cleveland and other northern points.

A full trainload of coal, estimated at 2,500 tons, was on the tracks of the Sunday Creek No. 6 mine at Millfield, awaiting effectiveness of the rate to begin shipment.

Operators all over the district reported that new orders for coal are pouring in from the Ohio markets which formerly have used coal from other states to avoid payment of the high Ohio rates.

The new rates were ordered by the state utilities commission after an investigation. Operators of coal mines in the three districts protested that reduced rates recently ordered for eastern Ohio placed southern Ohio at a disadvantage.

BACK GOVERNOR

Passage of White's Plan Voted Unanimously By House Committee.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 29.—By unanimous action the judiciary committee of the state House of Representatives today voted to recommend passage of Governor George White's bill setting up the machinery for the distribution to the various federal Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Complying with the urgent request of city officials of Cleveland and other municipalities the committee struck from the bill the section which would have required any local subdivision receiving such loans to obligate itself to repay this money.

WALKER'S STEAMER DELAYED BY ENGINE

GIBRALTAR, Sept. 29.—Crippled by turbine trouble, the new Italian liner Rex, carrying former Mayor James H. Walker and a distinguished passenger list to New York on her maiden voyage, limped into Gibraltar this afternoon.

The captain reported that the liner had "developed defects in machinery" when two hours off Gibraltar. He expected repairs to be completed by evening, but there were reports the huge vessel, striving for a speed record over the southern route, might be held up two or three days.

BANDITS ESCAPES

Gang of Desperate Men
Has Machine Gun.

ALLEGAN, Mich., Sept. 29.—Six bandits, who held up the First State Bank of Holland and shot the Holland police chief and a pedestrian, escaped from a swamp near here today, shooting their way through a cordon of state police.

In the general melee the thugs stole a second car and fled east. One of the bandits was believed to have been wounded.

He was seen to slump to the floor of the car as pursuing state police cruisers swept it with rifles.

An airplane from Holland was following the course of the thugs' flight.

STEAL $12,000

The bandits forced 16 officials and customers of the bank to lie on the floor while they scooped up $12,000 from the vault and teller's drawers.

As they fled one of the officials pressed an alarm button.

Police arriving in response to the alarm ran into a murderous fire from the bandit outlook stationed in a window of the bank.

Chief Peter A. Livense, 50, was shot in the side. As the police took cover the five thugs ran to where a sixth reached the engine of their car. Peter DeJongh, 64, a citizen was in their way. He fell under a rattle of gunfire.

CRASH INTO AUTO

As the waiting car roared out of an alley it collided with another machine driven by Mrs. Mary Braley. Abandoning the wreck the thugs commandeered a passing car and fled.

There was a running gun battle as they sped down the town's main street and out upon the Allegan highway. A few miles from town pursuing cars drew near the fleeing thugs.

Rifles cracked from the bandit car and glass flew from the windshield of the nearest pursuers.

Nearing Allegan the thugs found the state's police radio had outstripped them. Guards were already on the highways.

HAVE MACHINE GUN

They abandoned their car and fled into the swamps near Burmans. State troopers eager to go in after them were ordered to stand by when Holland police advised the posses that a machine gun drum had been found in the car abandoned by the thugs in Holland.

NAME M'KINLEY

KENTON, Sept. 29.—L. E. McKinley, for 12 years superintendent of Port Clinton, O., schools, has been appointed to the superintendency of Kenton schools to fill the vacancy caused by resignation of D. B. Clark, the board of education announced today.

The resignation of Superintendent Clark, to become business manager and co-director of the Marsh Foundation school for orphans at Van Wert, O., becomes effective Saturday. Clark has served as superintendent here for 13 years.

Clark was formerly principal here.

ATTENDANCE MARK AT OHIO BROKEN

ATHENS, Sept. 29.—A new attendance record at Ohio University was set today when the student enrollment reached a total of 2,560, or 10 more than last year. That this figure would go to 2,600 by the end of the week, when the regular enrollment period closes, was the prediction of Frank B. Dilley, university registrar.

Pickaway-co., represented by nine students last year, has increased its number to 15 this semester. Six students from Circleville enrolled at Ohio University are: Helen West, 157 W. Main-st.; Evelyn Eichinger, 120 N. Pickaway-st.; Waldo Hillyard, 509 N. Court-st.; Evelyn Steele, 403 S. Scioto-st.; and Grace Steele, 403 S. Scioto-st.

PICKAWAY-TWP SCHOOL NEWS

Our agricultural department regrets very much that this county is to lose Mr. Stanley Lewis. He has been a wonderful help and inspiration to all of us. We rejoice with him that he is getting a well-earned promotion and congratulate him upon his good fortune. He has worked hard for the farming interests of the county and too often a great many of the people have not realized just how much good he was doing for them. We predict that he will be sadly missed even by those who did not appreciate him. Every farmer and every farm boy and girl in this county is far better off as a result of his splendid services. He has earned for the farmers many times more than the amount he has been paid for his efforts, and they will profit for years to come from the help he has been to them. Unjust criticism and unfair attacks upon him and his program have thus resulted in a loss to the agricultural interests of the county while at the same time he has gone on into a better position. When will people learn not to bite the hand that is helping them?

Our teams were unfortunate again last Friday and let the Washington Twp. teams win both games. This week Adelphi comes here and we are hoping for better results.

Coach Carpenter took more than a score of our boys and girls to the final night game at Red Bird Stadium last Thursday night. He has also arranged to take even a larger number to see the football game at the Ohio State university stadium Saturday afternoon.

Attendance the first two days of this week was 98 percent plus. The first six grades had 100 percent both days. This is the kind of attendance we appreciate and the kind that means the most to the community.

Our new all-steel buses joined with the others of the county in the big inspection and safety drive at Circleville last Saturday. All reports and all comments were favorable, and they should be. Pickaway Township has a right to feel proud of its fleet of buses as well as of its building and equipment. The boys and girls have been well provided for.

ASHVILLE SCHOOL NEWS

The pupils of the fifth grade certainly do enjoy reading library books. They received some new ones this year that seem to be very interesting according to the demand for them.

Billy Joe Arthur, Charlotte Sampson, and Joan Tosca, second grade pupils, took part in the program given for P. T. A., Thursday, Sept. 22.

Thursday afternoon the three Literary Societies met and elected their officers for this year. The Independents elected Betty Batum president, Edwina Schlegel vice-president, and Helen Boone secretary. Their program committee is composed of Ruth Morrison, Edwina Schlegel, and Helen Heeter.

The Juniors elected Kathleen Creager President; Anna Hay, vice president, and Mildred Stout, secretary. Their program committee is composed of Katherine Baum, Mary Stevenson, and Mildred Stout.

The Meccurians elected Alice Bowers president, Charles Higley, vice president, and Judith Schlegel secretary. Their program committee is composed of Everett Peters, Isabel Graham, and Lillian Boyer.

The eighth grade has had no cases of tardiness to date this year. We hope that they will maintain this record throughout the school year.

The sophomore class held a weiner roast at Baum's woods on Friday evening, Sept. 23.

The freshman class elected its class officers Thursday for the school year of 1932-33. Vice-president, Cora Ruth White; vice-president, James Gray; secretary, Jean Martin and Josephine McGraw for treasurer.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Ashville school held their first meeting of the school year last Thursday evening. The association decided to appoint a committee to provide clothing for needy school children this year. A most delightful program was given by the students from grades one to eight. The third Thursday of each month was chosen as the regular meeting time.

Each year the association has contributed a program to the Home Ex. provided with some. Continued On Page 2.

PERRY-TWP SCHOOL NOTES

The first P. T. A. meeting of the year was held at the school building Friday, Sept. 21. A delightful picnic supper was served in the basement at the start of the session after which the meeting was called to order in the auditorium by the president, Mrs. Wiley Campbell. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Glen Speakman, followed by an appropriate talk by Rev. Harbaugh. The entertainment of the evening consisted mostly of music by John Hickle, son of Cary Hickle, formerly of Clarksburg and now a teacher in Porto Rico. Mr. Hickle rendered several interesting numbers on the saxophone and violin. Paul Peck, Wiley Campbell, Ernest Tarbill and Roy Hammond were named on the entertainment committee for the next meeting.

The high school baseball team opened the season Friday by defeating the Atlanta Independents, 7-3 in a seven inning tilt. Vaughn

How Modern Women Lose Pounds of Fat Swiftly—Safely

Gain Physical Vigor—Youthfulness With Clear Skin and Vivacious Eyes That Sparkle With Glorious Health.

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses. Every morning take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast—cut down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—in 4 weeks get on the scales and note how many pounds of fat have vanished.

Get a bottle of Kruschen Salts—the cost is trifling and it lasts 4 weeks. If even this first bottle doesn't convince you this is the easiest, safest and surest way to lose fat—if you don't feel a superb improvement in health—so gloriously energetic—vigorously alive—your money gladly returned.

But be sure for your health's sake that you ask for and get Kruschen Salts. Get them at any drugstore in the world.—Adv.

JACKSON-TWP SCHOOL NOTES

The first grade won the attendance banner for the second consecutive week with an attendance average of 99.16 per cent.

Seven new pupils entered school Monday morning. Emily and Arthur Schaefer, Junior and Dorothy Rapp entered from the Walnut-Twp. school. Beatrice, Floyd and Clyde Darst entered from Muhlenberg school. This makes our enrollment slightly larger than at the same time last year.

School work is moving along splendidly. It is important at this time of the school year for parents to remember that the loss of any portion of a school session often proves to be a serious interruption to a child's progress and may tend to produce a lack of interest in school work.

Any irregular attendance may result in school difficulties for your child or children. We are therefore asking your cooperation in keeping our attendance records, both in the grades and high school, as near perfect as possible.

The Jackson Girls' Recreation Ball Team continued their winning streak Friday by defeating the Darbyville girls 30 to 16. Darbyville started the scoring, but the Jackson Team soon scored enough runs to obtain the lead, which they retained throughout the game.

JACKSON BEATS DARBYVILLE
 The big boys from Fox P. O. sank the hopes of Darbyville under a barrage of hits with a score of 13-8. Majors pitching his first game twisted the opposition into all kinds of knots with his benders, while F. Walters who relieved him after the third inning proved invincible with his fast ball.

The Walters brothers and Majors proved to be the big guns of the Fox attack. N. Walters gathered three twisty swats including a sizzling three bagger driven into the vicinity of the old gym.

Five Darbyville pitchers were unable to stop our boys. F. Clark contributed with a sparkling catch on the left field foul line. Brigner played best for Darbyville.

Another reason for not putting store teeth in show windows is because it isn't polite to pick your teeth in public.

DARBY-SCHOOL NOTES

The following are the officers elected for the coming year:
 Senior—President, Marvreen Ridgeway; Vice-Pres., William Erskine; Sec. and Treas., Medtrith Lugenbeel; Sergt.-at-Arms, Welton Deyo.

Sophomore—President, Paul Karn; Vice-Pres., Jeanne McMillen; Sec. and Treas., Harold Deyo. Freshmen—President, Louella Stires; Vice-Pres., Thomas Hensel; Sec. Ruth Skinner; Treas., Betty Neff.

The juniors have not yet re-organized.

The results of the ball games played with Monroe Friday was a winning score of 8 to 2 for the boys, and the girls, playing a double header, won by scores of 9 to 7 and 7 to 5.

The senior class has awarded the contract of making the class pictures to the Baker Art Gallery.

County Superintendent D. L. Buchanan and attendance officer, Mr. Dunn, were business callers at the high school Friday morning.

The high school assembly will be held Friday morning, Sept. 30, with the local pastor, Rev. Scott, as the speaker.

Two new scholars have enrolled in room two, making a total of 48. Two more have also enrolled in room four.

There are now 79 students in the high school, three having enrolled Monday.

The annual freshman reception will be held Friday evening, Sept. 30, at 8 o'clock.

The first P. T. A. meeting will be held Friday evening, Oct. 14, at 8 o'clock.

They are not present in Luckies... the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

Public Business

ANSWERING the popular demand for the running of the public business by the methods of private business. Cincinnati's city manager makes the somewhat jarring assertion that private business methods are not applicable to the conduct of public affairs.

He is on solid ground when he says the problems of private and public business are radically different. Private business, unlike public business, need not undertake projects in which there is no possibility of profit. And, again unlike public business, it offers its executives a reward proportionate to the thought and energy they put into skilled performance. There is no denying these obstacles to the application of good business methods to public affairs, but private standards of honesty and efficiency can be applied to government. Sound financing, honest bookkeeping, care in avoiding needless waste of money and efficient employees are just as available to public corporations as to private corporations.

The city manager of Cincinnati could have gone one step further in his comparison to urge that it is just as important to keep politics out of the public business as out of private business. Politics has kept large private corporations in the red just as it has burdened public corporations with debts and high taxes. It is a matter of common knowledge that the railroads owe their present precarious position more to "family politics" than to competition.

There has been too much politics, unscrupulous financing, dishonest bookkeeping, needless waste and inefficiency in every field of human endeavor whether private or public.

The Monroe Doctrine

NO objections will be heard from the United States if Argentina joins the League of Nations with the understanding that the league shall thereafter officially consider the Monroe Doctrine a "political declaration" rather than as a "regional understanding" as in the past.

The South American republic has two reasons for making this strange request. It makes it possible, in her own eyes, for her to enter gracefully the league, from which she withdrew in 1920 when her proposal that Germany be admitted was rejected by the other members. And at the same time she can show the whole world that she is a big country now and no longer needs the protecting arm of Uncle Sam.

Of course the Monroe Doctrine is a political declaration. It was a warning to the nations of the independent nations on the American continents, or else there would be trouble with the United States. There was nothing regional about the understanding. The whole world understood what Washington meant and respected its wishes.

There was a time when Argentina, among others in South and Central America, was glad enough for this protectorate. Even she may owe her present independence to the Monroe Doctrine. But she is territorially large and possessed of all the pride and vanity of a young and powerful republic, so her resentment of the implication that she needs protection is understandable.

Key To The Past

HIEROGLYPHIC records found among the remains of a hitherto unknown pre-Aryan civilization in the Indus Valley in Asia may contain the clue to the mystery of Easter Island. Signs and symbols in these new hieroglyphics are identical with characters on the famous tablets from Easter Island, off the coast of Chile.

A few scattered similarities in two systems of hieroglyphics might be accidental but the French savant Guillaume de Hevesy has found 130 identical characters, raising question of ethnology and migration.

Easter Island has kept her secret well but science has never given up hope of solving the mystery surrounding the race which once peopled that island and left its mark in the form of those gigantic stones. The key may be found in the Indus Valley.

Excavations in the Indus Valley may have opened the way to a new approach to the whole question of Asian ancestry and, perhaps, to matters bearing on ancient America. Evidence has been found in the past linking Asia and America, so the supposition that the early Easter Islanders and the Indus Valleyites were directly related if not the same people in migration is nothing new.

Many a candidate who thinks he hears the voice of the people calling him is only thinking out loud.

"MURDER of the NIGHT CLUB LADY"

THE NEW THATCHER COLT DETECTIVE MYSTERY

BY ANTHONY ABBOT

COPYRIGHT, 1931, BY COVETI-FRIEDE INC., DISTRIBUTED BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

SYNOPSIS

Lola Carewe, "The Night Club Lady," and her guest, Christine Quires, are mysteriously murdered in the former's apartment. Scorpions were the instruments of death. The police suspect Guy Everett, the last person to see Christine alive. Lola had blackmailed Everett. He, however, claims that Christine discovered a plot to kill Lola and feared for her own life because of her knowledge. Police Commissioner Thatcher Colt learns that a young Paris bank clerk, named Basil Boucher, loved Lola. After robbing a bank to buy her a ruby, Basil disappeared. His parents sold medical laboratory specimens. Mrs. Carewe, Lola's mother, became hysterical at the mention of Basil, calling her daughter a beast and saying Lola never loved him. Edgar Quires, Christine's brother, left his Rochester home for New York following the receipt of a telegram the day of the murders. Christine was to have inherited wealth shortly. Suspicion also points to Dr. Hugh Baldwin when it is disclosed that he purchased scorpions. He had stated heart failure caused the deaths. Colt, calling to question Baldwin, finds him dead.

CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE

THE moment we were alone Colt his finger on the dead man's brought me to the body and put throat.

"There, Tony," he pointed out, "is the deadly kiss of the Durango." And there indeed it was, a tiny red vesicle, crimson over the jugular vein.

"And here," added Thatcher Colt, bending beside the sprawled figure, "is the messenger of death!" He picked up the dead insect between his fingers—its long feelers waved as my expelled breath passed over them. In silence, Colt put the Mexican scorpion into an envelope, sealed and marked it and gave it into my keeping.

"Our work is cut out for us," continued the Commissioner, "but before I notify Flynn and the rest, I want to do some private sleuthing and ask a few questions without interruption. Has Mrs. Baldwin regained consciousness?"

I found the pudgy little widow sitting up on the edge of the easy-chair in the front office, staring out blankly, while Miss Simon talked to her soothingly and rubbed her head with some aromatic fluid.

As always, in such investigations, my instincts revolted against the work we now had to do. This poor woman should be surrounded with sympathy and understanding, strict privacy and loving ministrations. But that was impossible. In her own way, she too was a victim—as in life, who is not? She would want to be alone but instead she would have to face the police. Even in these first few moments of shock and terror and numbing surprise, the widow of Doctor Baldwin must answer Thatcher Colt's questions, must allow the uttermost intimacies of her married life to be invaded, pried into, dangled before her, to be identified, analyzed and explained away to Colt, as to me, this is and will always be the most distasteful feature of police work. But there is no escape. Here as everywhere else the quest of truth does not lie down a pleasant path.

Thatcher Colt stood before Mrs. Hugh Baldwin and spoke to her kindly, explaining the necessity for questioning her. But she put the Commissioner immediately at ease. In a low voice and with her round blue eyes fixed upon him clearly, she said:

"I know that Hugh has died suddenly and I know that he was called in last night upstairs, so I am not surprised to find you here and I am ready to answer your questions."

It seemed a brave speech, a courageous attitude, and Colt said as much as he drew up a chair, sat

"I knew perfectly well that Doctor Baldwin had been involved with Lola Carewe and that she was an evil influence in his life," said Mrs. Baldwin.

down and faced her, while I drew out notebook and pencil.

"Did your husband return home last night, Mrs. Baldwin?"

"No, but he telephoned."

"About what time?"

"It was after four o'clock."

"Will you tell me what he said?"

"It was a strange conversation, Mr. Colt. I suppose there is no use pretending that Hugh and I were happy together. We weren't. We hadn't been for a long, long time. It was my fault, too, I guess. When we were married, I was not like I am today. I had the figure of a little girl. I didn't take care of myself and I just grew to be like I am now. So I couldn't blame Hugh for—well—for looking at other people now and then. I tried to understand. He had never asked me for a divorce. And he was always gentle—but brooding and miserable. If he had asked, I would have given him his freedom, even though I loved him more, much more, than when we were married. I would have done anything for Hugh."

"Last night I stayed home with the children. We had a little New Year's party just among ourselves. We didn't know where Hugh was. The children were all in bed around one o'clock and so was I but I couldn't get to sleep. I knew that it was after four o'clock when the telephone rang, and I was so glad too when I heard Hugh's voice. He said he was at the office, that he had come to a decision about our affairs and that he was going over a lot of business matters and that I would hear from him early in the day. It had been a long time, Mr. Colt, since Hugh talked to me like that. His voice was tender. He told me he had missed me. He said he wished things could be as they used to be. And he told me that no matter what he had done he had never stopped loving me. And then he hung up."

For a moment there was silence. Mrs. Baldwin had not mentioned her visitor of the night before—the mysterious caller of whom we had been told. But Colt held this back.

"Why did you come here this morning?" he asked.

"I had just read the papers," Mrs. Baldwin explained. "I knew perfectly well that Doctor Baldwin

KIRWIN REVIEWS HORSE FEATHERS

By PAT KIRWIN

This reporter has seen "Horse Feathers," the new Marx Brothers picture which will play at the Cliftona Theatre, beginning Sunday and continuing through Tuesday, and believe you me, we'll see it two or three more times before it leaves Ohio, if possible. That may prove anything. It may prove that I'm as crazy as the mad and merry Marxes. It may prove that "Horse Feathers" is a swell comedy. (I favor the latter although there will be dis-

THE 4 MARX BROTHERS

NUMEROUS FAMILIES PLANNING TO ATTEND HISTORIC SERVICES

The Ohio History Day Association will hold its annual meeting at Logan Elm Park, Sunday, Oct. 2. Many people spend the day under the famous old Elm with their friends and dinner baskets. A good program has been prepared and the exercises will not be tedious.

For twenty years now these meetings have been held with steadily increasing attendance. Many people come from year to year, and feel fully satisfied with what they hear. It is gratifying to realize, from the generosity of the public, that many people love the old tree and hope to see it restored to comparative health and strength. A new shelter house has been erected for your convenience, there is good water for your refreshment and you may refresh both mind and body in this Park set aside for your pleasure and profit. There is no admittance fee. Suitable parking space is provided and capable men on attendance to regulate traffic.

Why are these meetings held? To arouse in the people an interest in our past history and to foster in our young folks a love of Truth, patriotism and progression. The program begins at 1:30 and lasts about an hour and a half.

senters.) We saw this picture in its opening presentation at the Paramount Theatre in Los Angeles during our stay there the past summer and two of our ribs never have gone back in place after that continues 120-minute laugh.

I have no way of knowing whether Charlie Chaplin has yet seen "Horse Feathers," but I read an interview with him the other day in which he flatly stated: "Groucho Marx is the funniest man in the world." Coming from Chaplin that has a certain authority that cannot be denied.

GROUCHO'S PICTURE In our opinion "Horse Feathers" is Groucho's picture. From the moment when he is elected president of a college and appears in the class-room smoking furiously a titanic cigar, to his scene with blonde Thelma Todd—"Madame, you're ruining my son. Can't you do as much for me?"—he is irresistible.

As for the perpetually popular Harpo, it strikes me that his somewhat limited and distinctly goofy appeal has suffered a further diminution. What once seemed pleasingly cock-eyed about his art now has grown out of hand so that one has the uneasy feeling that the antic comedian has really just escaped from solitary confinement.

True, he still has his moments.

That one, for example, when chided by Groucho for burning the candle at both ends, he coyly extracts from his coat a taper lighted in that manner. And it would be an excessive-complaining crank who would deny that his touch-down, scored by means of his dog-catcher's cart and his patented method of grasping dogs in his net per the lamp-posts, are little short of masterpieces.

In "Horse Feathers" the other brothers are, as usual, slightly submerged. A feeble effort has been made by the director, Norman McLeod, to build up a romantic atmosphere about Zeppo by involving him in a love affair with the fair Thelma Todd. I regret to report that the young man remains as inanimate as a packing case.

The piano playing Chico's opportunities and Harpo's harp-playing art also add zest to the picture. There's no use going into further details about the picture. To tell the whole story and its incidents of course would be impossible but we could tell too much, so we'll conclude. Any way, by this time you're either a Marx Brothers fan or you're not.

And when you are, you'll refuse to listen to the saner criticisms of other—you'll crown the Marxes the Kings of Comedy—and you are certain that the Kings can do no wrong.

Why Disturb the Family's Radio Program?

Use an Extension Telephone

Of course both the radio and the telephone belong in the living room where the family gathers together. A telephone here provides instant communication—easily accessible—to the most people—most of the time.

But when an interesting radio program is on the air, it's so annoying to have someone interrupt to use the telephone. An extension telephone upstairs (or in some quiet nook) eliminates this annoyance. People who enjoy extension telephones tell us they could not get along without them. And the cost is so small.

Arrange today to have your extension telephone installed. Just call our office.

Edgar Quires, Christine's brother, left his Rochester home for New York following the receipt of a telegram the day of the murders. Christine was to have inherited wealth shortly. Suspicion also points to Dr. Hugh Baldwin when it is disclosed that he purchased scorpions. He had stated heart failure caused the deaths. Colt, calling to question Baldwin, finds him dead.

CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE

THE moment we were alone Colt his finger on the dead man's brought me to the body and put throat.

"There, Tony," he pointed out, "is the deadly kiss of the Durango."

And there indeed it was, a tiny red vesicle, crimson over the jugular vein.

"And here," added Thatcher Colt, bending beside the sprawled figure, "is the messenger of death!"

He picked up the dead insect between his fingers—its long feelers waved as my expelled breath passed over them. In silence, Colt put the Mexican scorpion into an envelope, sealed and marked it and gave it into my keeping.

"One walk is out for us," continued the Commissioner, "but before I notify Flynn and the rest, I want to do some private sleuthing and ask a few questions without interruption. Has Mrs. Baldwin regained consciousness?"

I found the pudgy little widow sitting up on the edge of the easy chair in the front office, staring out blankly, while Miss Simon talked to her soothingly and rubbed her head with some aromatic fluid.

As always, in such investigations, my instincts revolted against the work we now had to do. This poor woman should be surrounded with sympathy and understanding, strict privacy and loving ministrations. But that was impossible. In her own way, she too was a victim—as in life, who is not? She would want to be alone but instead she would have to face the police. Even in these first few moments of shock and terror and numbing surprise, the widow of Doctor Baldwin must, must allow the uttermost intimacies of her married life to be invaded, pried into, dangled before her, to be identified, analyzed and explained away. To Colt, as to me, this was and will always be the most distasteful feature of police work. But there is no escape. Here as everywhere else the quest of truth does not lie down a pleasant path.

Thatcher Colt stood before Mrs. Hugh Baldwin and spoke to her kindly, explaining the necessity for questioning her. But she put the Commissioner immediately at ease. In a low voice and with her round blue eyes fixed upon him clearly, she said:

"I know that Hugh has died suddenly and I know that he was called in last night upstairs, so I am not surprised to find you here and I am ready to answer your questions."

It seemed a brave speech, a courageous attitude, and Colt said as much as he drew up a chair, sat down and faced her, while I drew out notebook and pencil.

"I knew perfectly well that Doctor Baldwin had been involved with Lola Carewe and that she was an evil influence in his life," said Mrs. Baldwin.

"Did your husband return home last night, Mrs. Baldwin?"

"No, but he telephoned."

"About what time?"

"It was after four o'clock."

"Will you tell me what he said?"

"It was a strange conversation, Mr. Colt. I suppose there is no use pretending that Hugh and I were happy together. We weren't. We hadn't been for a long, long time. It was my fault, too, I guess. When we were married, I was not like I am today. I had the figure of a little girl. I didn't take care of myself and I just grew to be like I am now. So I couldn't blame Hugh for—well—for looking at other people now and then. I tried to understand. He had never asked me for a divorce. And he was always gentle, but brooding and miserable. If he had asked, I would have given him his freedom, even though I loved him more, much more, than when we were married. I would have done anything for Hugh."

"Last night I stayed home with the children. We had a little New Year's party just among ourselves. We didn't know where Hugh was. The children were all in bed around one o'clock and so was I but I couldn't get to sleep. I know that it was after four o'clock when the telephone rang, and I was so glad too when I heard Hugh's voice. He said he was at the office, that he had come to a decision about our affairs and that he was going over a lot of business matters and that I would hear from him early in the day. It had been a long time, Mr. Colt, since Hugh talked to me like that. His voice was tender. He told me he had missed me. He said he wished things could be as they used to be. And he told me that no matter what he had done he had never stopped loving me. And then he hung up."

For a moment there was silence.

"Mrs. Baldwin had not mentioned her visitor of the night before—the mysterious caller of whom we had been told. But Colt held this back.

"Why did you come here this morning?" he asked.

"I had just read the papers," Mrs. Baldwin explained. "I knew perfectly well that Doctor Baldwin had been involved with Lola Carewe, as she called herself, and I knew that she was an evil influence in his life. Some of the papers published some very unpleasant insinuations."

Colt glanced at me. So Dougherty was up to his old tricks again! "I tried to get Hugh on the telephone," Mrs. Baldwin went on, "but Miss Simon explained that he had gone out."

Here Miss Simon interrupted: "The doctor went out shortly after I arrived this morning, Mr. Colt, and soon after he was gone Mrs. Baldwin telephoned. When he came back I told him that Mrs. Baldwin was on her way to the office. He looked at me without replying, then went into the private office, closing the door. I didn't know that he had locked it."

"And that is all you can tell me, Miss Simon?" asked Colt.

"That's all I know, sir," Colt turned to me.

"Get Marshall over here. He's working across the street in a door man's uniform."

As I hurried out, Colt was re-suming his examination, getting the factual data about Doctor Baldwin. By the time I had returned with Detective Marshall in his ornamental uniform of blue and gold, Colt had a sheaf of notes beside him, which he turned over to me. While Marshall and I waited, he continued: "Under the circumstances, Mrs. Baldwin, it will be necessary to delay the plans for the funeral until the police have completed their investigation. I would suggest that you return home now. Have your relatives in the city?"

The stout little lady stood up and dabbed at her eyes with a handkerchief, three inches square, the perfume of which filled the room. "Only my children," she answered. "We have two boys and a girl. They will have to be told."

She extended a plump little hand. "You've tried to be very kind to me. Thank you, Mr. Colt."

"Mayn't I go home with her?" entreated Miss Simon, impulsively. But Mrs. Baldwin straightened her hat, insisting:

"No, thank you, my dear. I think I would rather be alone."

The Daily Horoscope

Thursday, Sept. 29, 1932

Astrologers read this as a favorable day for breaking down unnecessary barriers of formality in coming to co-operation and service. The morning hours are auspicious for mind activity and give an inclination for books, study, literature and traveling.

Harmony prevails today according to astrology; people will be sunny and genial and there will be a tendency for ease and comfort. Domestic affairs will run along smoothly.

Department stores should have their advertisements appear today for tomorrow's sale on millinery, dresses, lingerie, hosiery, cosmetics, lotions, candy and delicatessen.

Saturn's position during the morning hours is good for buying, investing and making transfers in real estate, replacing and leasing. The severe fortell discretion, will be used in buying and conservatism level-headedness and good fellowship are likely to prevail.

Satisfactory relations in the sport field are prognosticated. The minds of the people will be alert. There will be success in dealing with accounts, students, reporters, publishers and advertising.

Success in dealing with women and the common people is predicted today and it is a good day for canvassers who make calls

Key To The Past

HEROGLYPHIC records found among the remains of a hitherto unknown pre-Aryan civilization in the Indus Valley in Asia may contain the clue to the mystery of Easter Island. Signs and symbols in these new hieroglyphics are identical with characters on the famous tablets from Easter Island, off the coast of Chile.

A few scattered similarities in two systems of hieroglyphics might be accidental but the French savant Guillaume de Hevesy has found 130 identical characters, raising question of ethnology and migration.

Easter Island has kept her secret well but science has never given up hope of solving the mystery surrounding the race which once peopled that island and left its mark in the form of those gigantic stones. The key may be found in the Indus Valley.

Excavations in the Indus Valley may have opened the way to a new approach to the whole question of Asian ancestry and, perhaps, to matters bearing on ancient America. Evidence has been found in the past linking Asia and America so the supposition that the early Easter Islanders and the Indus Valleyites were directly related if not the same people in migration is nothing new.

Many a candidate who thinks he bears the voice of the people calling him is only thinking out loud.

KIRWIN REVIEWS: HORSE FEATHERS

By PAT KIRWIN
 This reporter has seen "Horse Feathers," the new Marx Brothers picture which will play at the Cliftona Theatre, beginning Sunday, and continuing through Tuesday, and believe you me, we'll see it two or three more times before it leaves Ohio, if possible. That may prove anything. It

NUMEROUS FAMILIES PLANNING TO ATTEND HISTORIC SERVICES

The Ohio History Day Association will hold its annual meeting at Logan Elm Park, Sunday, Oct. 2. Many people spend the day under the famous old Elm with their friends and dinner baskets. A good program has been prepared and the exercises will not be tedious.

For twenty years now these meetings have been held with steadily increasing attendance. Many people come from year to year, and feel fully satisfied with what they hear. It is gratifying to realize, from the generosity of the public, that many people love the old tree and hope to see it restored to comparative health and strength.

A new shelter house has been erected for your convenience, there is good water for your refreshment and you may refresh both mind and body in this Park set aside for your pleasure and profit. There is no admittance fee. Suitable parking space is provided and capable men on attendance to regulate traffic.

Why are these meetings held? To arouse in the people an interest in our past history and to foster in our young folks a love of truth, patriotism and progression. The program begins at 1:30 and lasts about an hour and a half.

That one, for example, when chided by Groucho for burning the candle at both ends, he coyly extracts from his coat a taper lighted in that manner. And it would be an excessive-complaining crank who would deny that his touch-down, scored by means of his dog-catcher's cart and his patented method of grasping dogs in his net per the tarp-props, are little short of masterpieces.

In "Horse Feathers" the other brothers are, as usual, slightly submerged. A feeble effort has been made by the director, Norman McLeod, to build up a romantic atmosphere about Zeppo by involving him in a love affair with the fair Thelma Todd. I regret to report that the young man remains as inanimate as a packing case.

The piano playing Chico's opportunities and Harpo's harp-playing art also add zest to the picture.

There's no use going into further details about the picture. To tell the whole story and its incidents of course would be impossible but we could tell too much, so we'll conclude. Any way, by this time you're either a Marx Brothers fan or you're not.

And when you are, you'll refuse to listen to the saner criticisms of other—you'll crown the Marxes the Kings of Comedy—and you are certain that the Kings can do no wrong.

Why Disturb the Family's Radio Program?
Use an Extension Telephone

Of course both the radio and the telephone belong in the living room where the family gathers together. A telephone here provides instant communication—easily accessible—to the most people—most of the time.

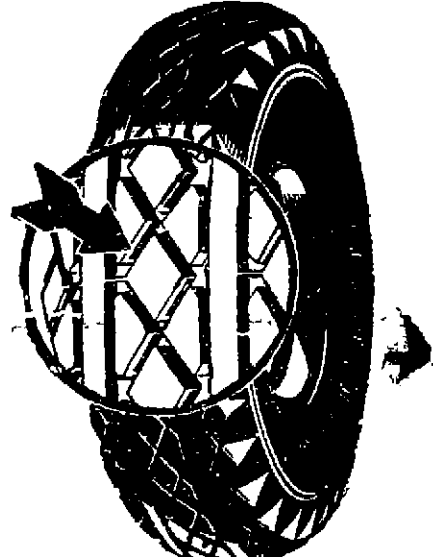

But when an interesting radio program is on the air, it's so annoying to have someone interrupt to use the telephone. An extension telephone upstairs (or in some quiet nook) eliminates this annoyance. People who enjoy extension telephones tell us they could not get along without them. And the cost is so small.

Arrange today to have your extension telephone installed. Just call our office.

PERRY-TWP SCHOOL NOTES

The first P. T. A. meeting of the year was held at the school building Friday, Sept. 21. A delightful picnic supper was served in the basement at the start of the session after which the meeting was called to order in the auditorium by the president, Mrs. Wiley Campbell. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Glen Speakman, followed by an appropriate talk by Rev. Harbaugh. The entertainment of the evening consisted mostly of music by John Hickie, son of Cary Hickie, formerly of Clarkburg and now a teacher in Porto Rico. Mr. Hickie rendered several interesting numbers on the saxophone and violin. Paul Peck, Wiley Campbell, Ernest Tarbill and Roy Hammon were named on the entertainment committee for the next meeting.

The high school baseball team opened the season Friday by defeating the Atlanta Independents, 7-3 in a seven inning tilt. Vaughn

How Modern Women Lose Pounds of Fat Swiftly—Safely

Gain Physical Vigor—Youthfulness With Clear Skin and Vivacious Eyes That Sparkle With Glorious Health.

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses. Every morning take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast—cut down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—in 4 weeks get on the scales and note how many pounds of fat have vanished.

Get a bottle of Kruschen Salts—the cost is trifling and it lasts 4 weeks. If even this first bottle doesn't convince you this is the easiest, safest and surest way to lose fat—if you don't feel a superb improvement in health—so gloriously energetic—vigorously alive—your money gladly returned. But be sure for your health's sake that you ask for and get Kruschen Salts. Get them at any drugstore in the world.—Adv.

DARBY-SCHOOL NOTES

The following are the officers elected for the coming year: Senior—President, Marveen Ridgeway; Vice-Pres., William Erskine; Sec. and Treas., Medrith Lugenbeel; Sergt.-at-Arms, Weldon Deyo. Sophomore—President, Paul Karn; Vice-Pres., Jeanne McMillen; Sec. and Treas., Harold Deyo. Freshmen—President, Louella Stires; Vice-Pres., Thomas Hensel; Sec., Ruth Skinner; Treas., Betty Neff.

The juniors have not yet re-organized. The results of the ball games played with Monroe Friday was a winning score of 8 to 2 for the boys, and the girls, playing a double header, won by scores of 9 to 7 and 7 to 5.

The senior class has awarded the contract of making the class pictures to the Baker Art Gallery. County Superintendent D. L. Buchanan and attendance officer, Mr. Dunn, were business callers at the high school Friday morning.

The high school assembly will be held Friday morning, Sept. 30, with the local pastor, Rev. Scott, as the speaker.

Two new scholars have enrolled in room two, making a total of 48. Two more have also enrolled in room four.

There are now 79 students in the high school, three having enrolled Monday.

The annual freshman reception will be held Friday evening, Sept. 30, at 8 o'clock.

The first P. T. A. meeting will be held Friday evening, Oct. 14, at 8 o'clock.

JACKSON-TWP SCHOOL NOTES

The first grade won the attendance banner for the second consecutive week with an attendance average of 99.16 per cent.

Seven new pupils entered school Monday morning. Emily and Arthur Schaefer, Junior and Dorothy Rapp entered from the Walnut-twp school. Beatrice, Floyd and Clyde Darst entered from Muhlenberg school. This makes our enrollment slightly larger than at the same time last year.

School work is moving along splendidly. It is important at this time of the school year for parents to remember that the loss of any portion of a school session often proves to be a serious interruption to a child's progress and may tend to produce a lack of interest in school work.

Any irregular attendance may result in school difficulties for your child or children. We are therefore asking your cooperation in keeping our attendance records, both in the grades and high school, as near perfect as possible.

The Jackson Girls' Recreation Ball Team continued their winning streak Friday by defeating the Darbyville girls 30 to 16. Darbyville started the scoring, but the Jackson Team soon scored enough runs to obtain the lead, which they retained throughout the game.

JACKSON BEATS DARBYVILLE

The big boys from Fox P. O. sank the hopes of Darbyville under a barrage of hits with a score of 13-8. Majors pitching his first game twisted the opposition into all kinds of knots with his benders, while F. Walters who relieved him after the third inning proved invincible with his fast ball.

The Walters brothers and Majors proved to be the big guns of the Fox attack. N. Walters gathered three twisty swats including a sizzling three bagger driven into the vicinity of the old gym.

Five Darbyville pitchers were unable to stop our boys. F. Clark contributed with a spurling catch on the left field foul line.

Brigner played best for Darbyville.

PICKAWAY-TWP SCHOOL NEWS

Our agricultural department regrets very much that this county is to lose Mr. Stanley Lewis. He has been a wonderful help and inspiration to all of us. We rejoice with him that he is getting a well-earned promotion and congratulate him upon his good fortune. He has worked hard for the farming interests of the county and too often a great many of the people have not realized just how much good he was doing for them. We predict that he will be sadly missed even by those who did not appreciate him. Every farmer and every farm boy and girl in this county is far better off as a result of his splendid services. He has earned for the farmers many times more than the amount he has been paid for his efforts, and they will profit for years to come from the help he has been to them. Unjust criticism and unfair attacks upon him and his program have thus resulted in a loss to the agricultural interests of the county while at the same time he has gone on into a better position. When will people learn not to bite the hand that is helping them?

Our teams were unfortunate again last Friday and let the Washington Twp. teams win both games. This week Adelphi comes here, and we are hoping for better results.

Coach Carpenter took more than a score of our boys and girls to the final night game at Red Bird Stadium last Thursday night. He has also arranged to take even a larger number to see the football game at the Ohio State university stadium Saturday afternoon.

Attendance the first two days of this week was 98 per cent. The first six grades had 100 per cent both days. This is the kind of attendance we appreciate and the kind that means the most to the community.

After one week was slightly better than 95 per cent, which is not so bad and yet it means a loss of 5 per cent or one dollar in every twenty. Taxpayers will get more for their money if they will encourage the very best attendance possible. It costs just as much per day when twenty or thirty pupils are absent as it does when all are present. Both the absent pupils and the taxpayers lose on this proposition.

Our new all-steel buses joined with the others of the county in the big inspection and safety drive at Circleville last Saturday. All reports and all comments were favorable, and they should be. Pickaway Township has a right to feel proud of its fleet of buses as well as of its building and equipment. The boys and girls have been well provided for.

ASHVILLE SCHOOL NEWS

The pupils of the fifth grade certainly do enjoy reading library books. They received some new ones this year that seem to be very interesting according to the demand for them.

Billy Joa Arthur, Charlotte Sampson, and Joan Tosca, second grade pupils, took part in the program given for P. T. A., Thursday, Sept. 2.

Thursday afternoon the three Literary Societies met and elected their officers for this year. The Independents elected Betty Baum president, Edwina Schlegel Vice-president, and Helen Boone secretary. Their program committee is composed of Ruth Morrison, Edwina Schlegel, and Helen Heeter.

The Junto's elected Kathaleer Cragger President; Anna Hay, vice president, and Mildred Stout, secretary. Their program committee is composed of Katherine Baum, Mary Stevenson, and Mildred Stout.

The Mecurian's elected Alice Bowers president, Charles Higley, vice president, and Judith Schlegel secretary. Their program committee is composed of Everett Peters, Isabel Graham, and Lillian Boyer.

The eighth grade has had no cases of tardiness to date this year. We hope that they will maintain this record throughout the school year.

The sophomore class held a Weiner roast at Baum's woods on Friday evening, Sept. 23.

The freshman class elected its class officers Thursday for the school year of 1932-33. For president, Cora Ruth White; vice-president, James Gray; secretary, Jean Martin and Josephine McGrew for treasurer.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Ashville school held their first meeting of the school year last Thursday evening. The association decided to appoint a committee to provide clothing for needy school children this year. A most delightful program was given by the students from grades one to eight. The third Thursday of each month was chosen as the regular meeting night for the association.

Each room in the grade school contributed a number for the P. T. A. program Thursday night. The Home Ec. girls have been provided with some needed extra Continued On Page Seven

Tigers Ready To Begin Home Grid Season

Lancaster Irish Squad Opponent On Friday At 3

With two of the hardest scrimmages they have ever gone through written into Tuesday's and Wednesday's record book, Circleville high school athletes were to let down this evening in preparation for their first home game of the season tomorrow afternoon against a squad of battling Irish representing St. Mary school of Lancaster.

The game is scheduled to be played on the high school field beginning at 3 p. m. with Viv Kohb, popular Ohio Wesleyan alumnus, and Virgil Simmons, Greenfield stylist, handling the whistles. Both Kohb and Simmons have been approved by Lancaster school authorities. Both men are very capable and should provide some excellent officiating. If they are as good as those in charge of last week's game at Lancaster there will certainly be no kick from anyone.

During the existing "repression" or whatever it is called, prices of admission to the games has been slashed to 35 cents for adults with the cost for the students two bits, (25 cents), or as you like it. These prices are for admission at the gate; any person desiring to climb the fence may do so at the risk of a crack on the head or a few hours respite in the cooling confines of the city bastille.

The Tigers, flushed by their "moral" victory (if there is such a thing) over Lancaster last week have not been permitted to let down one iota with Coach Herberholz and Charlie Hax who knows as much, (we believe) about football as he does about English—and that's plenty—driving the squad through its paces.

A battle which may continue even to game time has developed this week between Charlie Davis, Emanuel Hundley and Billy Steele for a halfback perch.

Davis' name is used first because he played last week. Hundley's is used second because the first letter of his last name is H and Billy Steele's is S. That's just the difference between the youths. The Red and Black mentor has been working with these three practically all week in an effort to develop one of the three into a first class halfback. Davis was not so hot last week, appearing especially shaky on the difficult art of snagging and returning punts. Hundley would be in the lineup tomorrow for the rest of the year if he could learn the signals—but he doesn't seem to be able to master them. Steele has been troubled by bad ankles and if they have recovered in time for the game don't be surprised to see him in the starting lineup.

A new tackle, Truax, and a new guard, Skaggs, have been showing up well this week and will certainly see service Friday afternoon.

The remainder of the squad is intact. The youths realize that they have no push-over in the St. Mary team and have been laboring diligently in preparation for the game. The starting lineups will probably read as follows:

SOX OBTAIN MACK STARS

Simmons, Haas and Dykes Sold To Chicago; Believe $150,000 Price.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Connie Mack's great Philadelphia athletics were broken up today.

Connie Mack has sold Al Simmons, the Milwaukee Pole, to the Chicago White Sox.

With the fence-crashing outfielder went Mule Haas, center-fielder of exceptional ability and Jimmy Dykes, who played with the Athletics for the past fourteen years. Dykes may have another good year in his system, and if he had will steady the inner works of the White Sox.

The purchase price was not made public. It was reported the players went for $150,000.

OTHERS SILENT

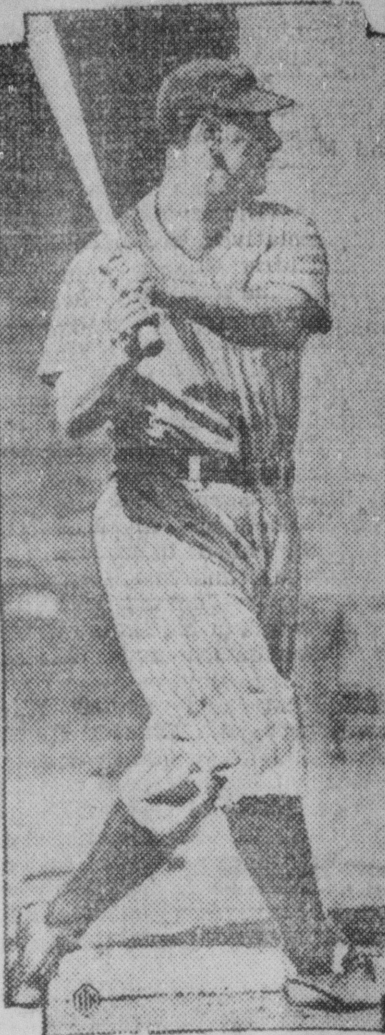

The deal sending Simmons to the White Sox was initiated by Connie Mack last summer when Simmons was spinning around in a dismal hitting slump. Mack sounded out Frank J. Navil, of Detroit, and Alva Bradley, of Cleveland, on the subject of Simmons. He did not attempt to negotiate with the Yankees, as far as is known at this time.

Neither Navin nor Bradley was interested in the matter of obtaining Simmons and the deal did not prosper. But Harry Grabner, of the White Sox, enterprising and ambitious, heard that perhaps Simmons could be bought.

The fact that Al has a contract calling for $33,333 per year with a full year to run did not deter Grabner in the least. He put the money on the line and is tickled to death over the matter.

"We are going to make a ball club out there in Chicago and are on the way," said Grabner today. "We will do anything to build up the White Sox into a pennant winner. We got three great men from the Athletics.

Smacks Homer

LOU GEHRIG, YANKEES' FIRST BASEMAN

Gehrig's home run with Babe Ruth on base to give the Yankees a 3-2 lead, apparently broke the spell of Guy Bush. This clunker will bear plenty of watching through the series.

BOGUS MONEY IN ROCKIES

DENVER—More bogus money has been made in the Rocky Mountain region during the past year than was made in the previous 20 years, according to Rowland K. Goddard, operative in charge of the United States secret service here. Records of Goddard's office revealed that 29 counterfeiters have been arrested in Colorado, Wyoming and northern New Mexico since Jan. 1, 1932.

GRIMM TO CALL ACE FOR DUTY

Warneke To Pitch Against Lefty Gomez In Today's Series Test.

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Not yet able to comprehend the enormity of the thing and just a little dazed by it all, the Chicago Cubs rose painfully from the splinters and, like a punch-dizzy fighter, turned to face their tormentors again today in the second game of the World Series. Their tormentors were and are the New York Yankees and they leered at the Cubs from the opposite corner in a very knowing way, convinced thoroughly and for all time that the National league entry can't come back off that farcical 12 to 6 beating they sustained in yesterday's premiere of baseball's big show.

USE WARNEKE

Still, they say there is no man so dangerous as the fighter who has been hurt and, in truth, the Cubs didn't fight their way, doggedly and with high courage, into this series only to quit now. Their manager Charlie Grimm announced early this morning in fact, that they were shooting their boy-genius of the mound in a determined effort to regain today the position and prestige they lost yesterday. Their boy-genius of the mound is Lon Warneke, one of the great first-year pitchers of the modern generation and, if he has one of his good days, the Cubs ought to win. If they do, they have an even chance for the title. If they don't, they have none.

LIKE SOUTHPAWS

In an effort to see that they don't, Mr. Joseph McCarthy, whose reward for winning a pennant in Chicago was dismissal, announced that Vernon "Lefty" Gomez would appear on behalf of the Yankees. Vernon won 24 games in the American league this year but recently he has been just another stepchild out there and, besides, the Cubs are affectionate to left-handers. But McCarthy often moves in a mysterious way his wonders to perform and this may merely be one of them.

DEATH PLANS

to have been one of the occupants who met death.

Two men were taken into custody shortly after the blast. Police said one suspect had figured in a dynamiting case here recently.

The four injured persons were residents of the immediate vicinity. Three were hurt from their beds when the blast let go. All suffered from cuts about the face, head and hands by flying glass splinters.

The injured were Mrs. Helen Salaski, 60; Joseph Jarvis, 24; Mrs. Evelyn Crew, 38, and Edwin Goodfield, 16.

Every available detective was rushed to the scene.

A theory that the men had intended to plant a heavy explosive charge under or near some building in the neighborhood was held by police.

Jarvis was easing his car into the garage when the explosion occurred. It blew the windshield from his machine and showered him with glass splinters.

He told police that he passed the machine occupied by two men just before drawing up before his garage. A moment later, the blast let go.

Police expressed the belief that the two men had a heavy charge of dynamite in the car and were attaching a cap to the charge when, through a bungling mishandling of the deadly explosive, the cap was discharged, setting off the dynamite.

BOGUS MONEY IN ROCKIES

DENVER.—More bogus money has been made in the Rocky Mountain region during the past year than was made in the previous 20 years, according to Rowland K. Goddard, operative in charge of the United States secret service here. Records of Goddard's office revealed that 29 counterfeiters have been arrested in Colorado, Wyoming and northern New Mexico since Jan. 1, 1932.

GRIMM TO CALL ACE FOR DUTY

Warneke To Pitch Against Lefty Gomez In Today's Series Test.

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Not yet able to comprehend the enormity of the thing and just a little dazed by it all, the Chicago Cubs rose painfully from the splinters and, like a punch-dizzy fighter, turned to face their tormentors again today in the second game of the World Series. Their tormentors were and are the New York Yankees and they leered at the Cubs from the opposite corner in a very knowing way, convinced thoroughly and for all time that the National League entry can't come back off that farical 12 to 6 beating they sustained in yesterday's premiere of baseball's big show.

USE WARNEKE

Still, they say there is no man so dangerous as the fighter who has been hurt and, in truth, the Cubs didn't fight their way, doggedly and with high courage, into this series only to quit now. Their manager Charlie Grimm announced early this morning in fact, that they were shooting their boy-genius of the mound in a determined effort to regain today the position and prestige they lost yesterday. Their boy-genius of the mound is Lon Warneke, one of the great first-year pitchers of the modern generation and, if he has one of his good days, the Cubs ought to win. If they do, they have an even chance for the title. If they don't, they have none.

LIKE SOUTHPAWS

In an effort to see that they don't, Mr. Joseph McCarthy, whose reward for winning a pennant in Chicago was dismissal, announced that Vernon "Lefty" Gomez would appear on behalf of the Yankees. Vernon won 24 games in the American league this year but recently he has been just another stepchild out there and, besides, the Cubs are affectionate to left-handers. But McCarthy often moves in a mysterious way his wonders to perform and this may merely be one of them.

DEATH PLANS

to have been one of the occupants who met death.

Two men were taken into custody shortly after the blast. Police said one suspect had figured in a dynamiting case here recently.

The four injured persons were residents of the immediate vicinity. Three were hurled from their beds when the blast let go. All suffered from cuts about the face, head and hands by flying glass splinters.

The injured were Mrs. Helen Salaski, 60; Joseph Jarvis, 24; Mrs. Evelyn Crew, 38, and Edwin Goodfield, 16.

Every available detective was rushed to the scene.

A theory that the men had intended to plant a heavy explosive charge under or near some building in the neighborhood was held by police.

Jarvis was easing his car into the garage when the explosion occurred. It blew the windshield from his machine and showered him with glass splinters.

He told police that he passed the machine occupied by two men just before drawing up before his garage. A moment later, the blast let go.

Police expressed the belief that the two men had a heavy charge of dynamite in the car and were attaching a cap to the charge when, through a bungling mishandling of the deadly explosive, the cap was discharged, setting off the dynamite.

not give Mr. McNeal a lighter sentence than that to the penitentiary.

Mr. McNeal was ordered to rise and when asked by Judge Adkins if he had anything to say for himself he replied, "I have nothing to say, Judge," and sentence was passed.

The sentence means that McNeal will serve at the discretion of the board of paroles and pardons. He cannot be in the penitentiary less than a year, provided the court of appeals follows the ruling of the trial court, and the length of time over a year that he serves depends largely upon his conduct and actions while in the penal institution.

Are You the Unusual Hostess?

Some Women make the afternoon tea hour a time to be anticipated. That's probably because they serve

TOASTED CHEESE SANDWICHES

Cut slices of Wallace's Sandwich Bread or "Family Loaf" and butter lightly. Take a small quantity of American or Pimento Cheese—run through grater, add a little butter and work until smooth. Spread this mixture on the Bread. Put the two slices together and cut into triangles. Toast until delicately brown on both sides and serve at once.

ALL CHARTERED INSTITUTIONS

SHOULD HAVE a Safe Deposit Box to enable the custodian to keep and preserve the papers in his care so as to insure their safety.

THERE ARE generally deeds, agreements, investments, records, leases, etc., which are the interests of every member and it would be considered very unfair to any custodian not to be furnished with means to protect the things you expect him to protect.

IT WOULD be considered good business and foresight for any member to investigate if proper provisions have been made for the security of the assets of his organization.
